Project activities and outcomes

- Data collection around the conditions of long-term unemployed immigrant women in Europe;
- Development of a Jobpackage based on job-related language learning, training of basic competences, health and well-being recovery methods for immigrant women to enhance their already existing competences and to learn new ones;
- Implementation of an assessment tool to monitor and evaluate the improvements in the women's labour-oriented skills and development;
- Establishment of cross-sectoral Jobpackage Councils to build a sustainable contact with labour-market and healthcare authorities.

The Jobpackage

- The Jobpackage will be a comprehensive programme of upgrading and qualifying training activities that each of the women can perform, which may include and combine voluntary participation in e-learning and online-based language learning and more.
- The basic idea behind the jobpackage concept is, however, to help immigrant women to gain the main job-related skills and basic competences that may in the long run be the most efficient way to employment.
- The jobpackage is an individual programme for each woman in the project.

Jobpackage programme

- Work related language skills
 - Vocabularies related to different workplaces
 - Communicative skills
- Work related technical /digital skills
- Social skills
 - Dealing with conflicts and misconceptions, being assertive etc
- Knowledge and information about:
 - The working market
 - Relevant workplaces

Our Jobpackage concept includes also:

- The creation of cross-sectoral Jobpackage Councils: we want to establish the Jobpackage Councils in which the Council members from an equal platform act as an advisory and facilitating board, yet also an action board, where the members are able and ready to provide their usual services, for instance establishing internships, additional law based training elements and other.
